

Faculty of Nursing

☒ Vision

Commitment to excellence in nursing science, education, practice, and research as being the top academic nursing program in the region.

☒ Mission

The mission of the Faculty is to make difference in the lives of people through quality nursing education that prepares health care providers who are able to translate science into practice and meet the needs of the population in an ever changing health care environment. The faculty is also committed to nursing science through research activities that enhance quality of services and the development of the nursing profession at the national, regional and international levels.

☒ Overview

The Faculty of Nursing at JUST is dedicated to the development of the profession of nursing. It is concerned with the development of human resources, improvement of nursing education programs and offering high quality health care to individuals, families and communities through collaboration, coordination and leadership on local and national levels in Jordan. These objectives are congruent with national priorities in Jordan, aiming at improving education for health care practitioners, to increase quality health care to Jordanians and to strengthen the potential leadership role of nurses.

The faculty staff includes (26) Ph.D. holders and (33) holding Master's degrees from international leading universities. They are supported by number of qualified teaching assistants and technicians.

The Faculty at present has (21) scholarships pursuing their graduate studies in USA, Canada, and United Kingdom.

☒ Academic Departments and Programs:

- Department of Adult Health Nursing
- Department of Community and Mental Health Nursing
- Department of Maternal and Child Health Nursing
- Department of Midwifery

The faculty programs are designed to educate professional nurses at undergraduate and graduate levels to provide the highest quality health care to individuals, groups and communities and to critically examine and effectively respond to changing health care needs of the society.

At present the faculty offers the following degrees:

- B.S. in Nursing.
- B.S. in Nursing (RN-Completion Program).
- M.S.N. in Adult Health: Acute Care.
- M.S.N. in Community Health Nursing.
- M.S.N. in Maternal and Newborn Health Nursing.
- M.Sc. in Applied Behavioral Health Analysis.

The two Bachelor's degree programs include: A four-year program for undergraduate students and a registered nurse (RN) completion program for diploma-prepared nurses (commenced in 1993).

The three master's degree programs prepare clinical nurse specialists in Adult Health, Community Health Nursing and Maternal Newborn Nursing. These were the first clinical nursing programs offered at the master's degree level in the Arab World (commenced in 1998). The RN-completion and the master's degree programs were developed through the collaborative projects with the University of Windsor, in Canada since 1990.

The master's programs have been reviewed and modernized through a Partnership with Tempus Project in collaboration with the British Council, Queen's University-UK, and Trinity Center for Health Sciences in Dublin-Ireland.

☒ International Collaboration

- The faculty has been designated as a World Health Organization (WHO) Collaborating Center since 1997 and a Center of Excellence in Nursing Development.
- "Tempus- Just" project commenced on 2003 in collaboration with the British council, Queens University, and Trinity Center for Health Sciences in UK. The project aimed at enhancing Nursing Higher Education.