Homework Rules - Read Carefully

1. You have to attend the class to submit your homework. If you can not attend, you have to hand it to me personally before the lecture.

2. Homework must be legible (readable) or it will be returned to you to be rewritten. If a second homework is found to be illegible it will also be returned, but it will not be accepted for regrading.

3. You may consult with your classmates and friends for help on the homeworks, but you may not copy their solutions. You must hand in your own homework. You may not show one another your homeworks. Showing one another your homework is not discussion/consultation, and is considered cheating. If we suspect that this is the case, zeros will be given to those involved in cheating (You may see me if you feel that our suspicion is wrong). If you insist on cheating, other measures could be taken against you.

4. If you find a solution to the homework in a text or in some other outside source, you may submit it, but you must cite the source, book, page, edition, year, etc.

5. No late homeworks will be accepted without prior consultation with me. I will grant extensions at my discretion.

6. Please, write only on one side of the page for your homeworks. It is better to use a white A4 paper. A cover page has to be included, and all the papers be stapled together.

7. Attendance is taken every lecture. According to the University Rules, if your absence exceeds 10%, then I have the right to prevent you from attending the final exam. In case there is a valid excuse for not attending a lecture, you need to present this excuse to me within 2 working days from your absence. You have to attend even if this is not the first time you register for the course.
