

Water Recycling Program Implementation

Example of Water Recycling Program (JUST, Jordan)

Description:

The operation and maintenance unit at the university annually searches for local companies, institutions and factories nearby to draw sewage from them and re-purify it through the existing water purification which existed since the establishment of the university in the eighties of the last century, that's in addition to the university's buildings sewers, to reuse water for agricultural purposes, especially after climate change, which began to raise the degrees The temperature in Jordan increases the drought of the crops.